

Digital Processing & Proofing

Digital photography has many wonderful advantages allowing photographers to shoot more and have more creative control over their images. With all these images comes the task of processing the files to get them to a point that they can be viewed can be an overwhelming task. Printmakers offers a number of services to take the burden off your shoulders!

Color Correction

Make sure your potential clients are seeing your best image with very limited preparation on your end.

Allow our color technicians to color correct files before you reveal them to the public. Here are a few reasons you may have your images color corrected:

- Posting images to an online viewing gallery, social media site or blog
- Burning images to DVD for a client
- Using images in a collage or template that you will flatten prior to sending to Printmakers for a finished print
